

COVID-19 and Pregnancy

Our office is making every effort to follow the recommended guidelines that are rapidly changing from the CDC. If you are currently pregnant, please refer to the below CDC guidelines regarding COVID-19 if you or your employer has questions or concerns regarding restrictions.

“We do not currently know if pregnant women have a greater chance of getting sick from COVID-19 than the general public nor whether they are more likely to have serious illness as a result. Pregnant women experience changes in their bodies that may increase their risk of some infections. With viruses from the same family as COVID-19, and other viral respiratory infections, such as influenza, women have had a higher risk of developing severe illness. It is always important for pregnant women to protect themselves from illnesses”.

In addition, Michigan Department of Health and Human Services stated, “those who are currently pregnant or were pregnant in the last two weeks are considered to have a compromised immune system”.
